

Introduction to Ceramics for Wellbeing

Adult

On this course you will explore several clay-modelling, hand building techniques, and ceramic decorative processes. You will explore making functional ware and sculptural pieces, linking to historical context, archaeology and geology.

The tutor will give you guidance to achieve your goals which you can adapt to make your own creations. You will develop your ideas by considering design, form and function.

The road to wellbeing courses are relaxed and informal, enabling you to improve your wellbeing and mental health by building your self-confidence and self-esteem. Attending our classes is also a great way of meeting new people and making friends

This course runs at Richmond House Resource Centre on Tuesdays from 10.00-12.30 or 1.30-4.00.

Scan the QR Code for full course description, assessment and progression options from this course

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Our courses are for anyone aged 19+ who is experiencing or recovering from mental ill-health.

This can be mild, moderate or long term.

LOCATION & NEXT START DATE(S)

Duchy College Rosewarne - As required
Duchy College Rosewarne - As required
Duchy College Rosewarne - As required

LEVEL No Qualification	DURATION 10 - 13 Weeks - 1 day per week
ATTENDANCE Part-time	FEES Tuition Fees: £68.00

Fees apply to adults and HE students only. Only the most common fees scenario is shown. Actual fees

Find out more and
apply online

Introduction to Ceramics for Wellbeing

Adult

may vary depending on your personal situation. Please contact us for further information. Courses listed on this website are indicative of the subject, nature and level of study. The College reserves the right to alter specific qualifications titles, awarding bodies and levels of qualification, which can change in year. Any cost may also vary, based on personal funding eligibility. The Cornwall College Group reserves the right to withdraw any course listed at any time.

Explore Our Courses & Apprenticeships

Join us for a campus tour, meet our dedicated team, and get all your questions answered. Scan the QR code to register for our next Open Event or Taster Day.

Find out more and
apply online

