

Container Gardening and how to increase biodiversity in your garden

Adult

Leisure and Professional

Gardens are an important part of your home, but having time to keep them kept and tidy can be a challenge. Having a container based garden can help give a bright, colourful and vibrant garden with less work. This one day course will cover how to plant in containers, how to space and plan containers and what to plant to increase wildlife and biodiversity in your garden attracting pollinating insects and birds.
